

South Coast Senior Resource Association

Navigating the Way for Seniors

The Senior Resource Association (SRA), is invested in helping families to plan and manage the complexities of senior living.

Families today can become overwhelmed when major decisions need to be made for the senior in their lives. The Senior Resource Association can help with this burden by providing professional expertise and guidance. Each member has dedicated themselves to helping elders that need care and advice.

The group was formed to provide plausible answers to the complex issues confronting senior's retirement. Each member was invited to join based upon their relevant field of expertise and their personal and proven commitment to assisting the senior population in our community.

As an elder law attorney, Dan Surprenant states, "I know I provide only one piece in the puzzle of issues that senior clients may be facing. I can see the importance of having strong relationships with other professionals in the community that are able to fill those needs. That to me is what the SRA is all about!"

Nancy Pereira, Director of Active Day of Fairhaven Medical Adult Day Care, feels "Seniors today are facing numerous financial and health care challenges and are often not aware of the resources and services available to them. As a member of the SRA, I'm able to reach out to seniors to assist and support them in accessing the services they need".

A Brief History....

The Senior Resource Association was started in 2004 when Tabitha Tripp, owner of Tender Hearts Home Health Care, and other like-minded professionals met at a health fair and quickly developed strong professional relationships. This bond led to the determination that there was a great need for competent and reliable information from knowledgeable resources that seniors and caregivers could utilize.

They quickly realized that the concept of forming a group of similar minded professional to provide plausible answers to the complex issues confronting seniors in the south coast community was needed.

As the South Coast Senior Resource Association expanded, these professionals were confident in bringing in new members with expertise, whom they trusted and respected into the group.
